

Rewarding Career Opportunity For Veterans

Seeking Energetic, Driven, and Dynamic military veterans interested in a fulfilling sales career in the insurance industry!

No experience necessary...We will train you!

Our Sales Development Program is a perfect fit for recent military veterans who are looking to start rewarding and successful careers in the insurance industry. All sales representatives will receive a customized training and development plan that outlines the hands-on sales training along with insurance education.

Each representative will work closely with a dedicated sales manager to ensure that they are learning the insurance business as well as being the best sales person they can be. Our goal is to bring talented and hardworking veterans into the industry and to start them on a productive and rewarding career.

Why hire a veteran?

We know veterans possess the drive, discipline and determination to succeed. Vets are used to working efficiently under pressure and being a part of a team and have all the qualities needed to succeed in a sales career. We want you!

See what US Army SFC (RET) Mitchell Brown has to say about our Sales Development Program:

"I can honestly say the extensive sales training and support from USLI has made my transition from "Army Green" to "Corporate Grey" both smooth and successful. The attentive and knowledgeable sales staff are always available to answer questions and give guidance where needed. To me it is more of a mentorship relationship that helps both myself and my company be more successful. The training is first class and again the support is second to none." – SFC(RET) Mitchell Brown, US Army Infantry – TWFG General Agency
